

NEW THEORY IN ARRANGEMENT OF CHURCH WILL BE TRIED

Building of First Christian Denomination to be Enlarged After New Plans

RECREATION ROOMS PROPOSED

Church to be Open Every Day in Week For Benefit of All—Committee Appointed to Have Charge of Re-Construction.

A church that will be open seven days out of the week for the accommodation of anyone who wishes to enjoy the numerous advantages of rest room, reading room and other innovations that will be provided is to be constructed by the members of the First Christian church in an enlarged building now being planned.
This will be one of the results of the big tabernacle evangelistic campaign
now being waged at the Fifth street tabernacle. The present Christian church on Fallowfield avenue near Sixth street will be much enlarged, and a new theory in church arrangement—at least for Charleroi—tried.
At the meeting following the evangelistic service at the tabernacle Wednesday evening a committee was appointed to look after details in the addition to be built. This committee will consist of S. K. Scott, chairman; W. E. McFall; J. K. Mitchell,
J. D. Berryman and J. W. Cornell.

Though plans have not yet been drawn, the idea for the enlargement of church quarters is that the church will be extended to the full width of the ground and will be built to the street. The auditorium will be enlarged to accommodate 1,000 persons,
and there will be a balcony built.
Not only will the auditorium be reconstruction and re-arranged but the basement quarters will be en-under the sidewalk to make room and extra space will be provided where-ever possible. A rest room will be built therein that will be open to visitors every day in the week, together with reading rooms. There will be shower baths arranged in and short the basement will be so constructed as to resemble in some respect a combined Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. of the most up-to-date pattern.

AGREEMENT REACHED IN CHARLEROI DAMAGE SUIT

In the suit of Robert J. Poppen-dick against the Hussey-Binns Show-el Co., of Charleroi, a verdict was taken Wednesday by agreement, in favor of the plaintiff for $750. The plaintiff sought damages by reason of personal injuries sustained while employed by the defendant company.
In attempting to stop an engine he was struck by a lever along the jaw. It was fractured badly and one eye was affected as a result. It was claimed that the accident was due to a defect in the engine, an old style one, causing the lever to fly up as it did, when the plaintiff attempted to snut it down.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY OBSERVED

Musical Comedy Presented at Turner Hall is Feature of Celebration

BIG AUDIENCE ENTERTAINED

St. Patrick's Day, so named in honor of Ireland's patron saint was festively observed in Charleroi Wednesday, the chief feature of the observance outside of the "wearing of the green" being a musical comedy,
"Fifty Miles From Pittsburgh," that was rendered by Division No. 2, Ancient Order of Hibernians at Turner Hall in the evening. The affair was well staged and the large audience was well entertained.
The scene of the play was laid in "any railway depot," and the characters were such as ticket sellers, college girls, drummers and other travelers who came in and made their exit after "pulling their stunt" peculiar or otherwise. In between acts specialties were introduced by a Mr. Skehan, clog dancer, and ex-assemblyman William Feeney, violinist. One of the most popular of all the comedians who took part was Otto Klein of Roscoe, who appeared in the role of a German band leader.

The entire cast was as follows:
William Feeney, Peter Woods, Bart-
ley Woods, John Marshall, Otto Klein, Patrick Haley, James Darroch, Edward Maines, Joseph Ritzer, John McCormick, Francis Feeney, Thomas Timin, Miss Anna Cairns, Miss Anna Steine, Miss Mary McGee,
Mrs. Mary Guidesh, Mrs. Cecelia
Moussion, Miss Kathleen Feeney,
Miss Mary McAllister, Miss Mary
Murphy, Miss Millie Newton, Miss Helen Maines, Miss Sara Shields, Miss Anna Robinson, Miss Alice Piccanot-ti and Miss Katherine Maxon.
The musical comedy was staged under the direction of Rev. Patrick Maher of Roscoe and the music was under the direction of Miss Anna Murphy.

VAUDEVILLE AT THE PALACE TONIGHT

SIX-YEAR-OLD BOY DROWNED AT ROSCOE

Ora Thomas Knocked Accidentally From Showboat
"Cotton Blossom" Into River—Body Not Located at Noon Today

While at play with schoolmates
aboard the "Cotton Blossom," a floating theatre anchored off Roscoe Wednesday afternoon, Ora Thomas, the six-year-old son of Mrs. Jerry Thomas of Roscoe was knocked from the deck of the boat and drowned. The tragedy was not known of for several hours after its occurrence.
The boy and his companions went to the floating theatre after school Wednesday afternoon and as nearly as can be determined the accident occurred about 4 o'clock. The youngsters were playing on the boat and apparently one of them bumped young Thomas who toppled over the edge of the boat into 15 feet of water. The other boys hurriedly left the boat without notifying men on the craft of the accident.
When the little chap failed to reach home for supper his parents became alarmed and started a search. They finally learned of the accident. Men started dragging the river in the vicinity of the boat between 7 and 8 o'clock Wednesday evening but up to today noon no trace of the body has been found.

SINCLAIR ASKS FOR UMBEL'S IMPEACHMENT AT BERRYMAN OPENING

Alleged Corrupt Agreement Entered Into by Fayette County Judge and Dumbauld According to Idea of Fayette Representative.

Robert E. Umbel, president judge of the common pleas court of Fayette county, has the alternative of facing impeachment charges before the state senate or resigning soon from the bench. A petition asking for his impeachment was presented Wednesday to Speaker Charles A. Ambler, of the store house of representatives
by Representative Duncan Sinclair of Fayette.
The proceedings are based solely on the alleged corrupt agreement that Umbel is credited with having entered into with Attorney H. S. Dumbauld of Uniontown, and do not go into the old Dumbauld charges of corruption in the election of Umbel or improper conduct on the bench.
Judge Umbel has asked that the hearing be postponed till next Tuesday.

Frank J. John, the local druggist has received what is to him a yearly remembrance being in the shape of a barrel of lake trout of the finest kind. Mr. Chambers every year sends a supply of lake trout to Mr.

John, who in turn distributes some Chambers here. All the trout are

FIREMEN CALLED OUT TWO TIMES

Motor Truck Makes Runs
in Record Time—Little Damage is Reported

THIS BAD TIME, SAYS CHIEF

Reports of fires and hasty runs with the new auto fire truck were quite fashionable Wednesday evening. The first alarm was turned in at about 6:30 o'clock, the roof at the home of P. Livingston at 205 Luella avenue being aflame. Only slight damage was done. The second alarm was at 10 o'clock from the home of W. C. Hughes at 118 Fallowfield avenue. Here a little sansation was attached to the fire story.
A child was asleep in an upper room. Awakened by smoke the child screamed, and the father, sitting in a room down stairs hearkened. The alarm was spread, but the fire was easily extinguished. Some damage was done to the mantle.
The fire truck made the run in record time. In both cases, it is asserted the fires were caused by soot. This is a bad time for fires according to Chief Fleming and much care should be taken.

Sermon Preaches on "Short Weight" Wednesday Night
at Tabernacle

MUSICAL NUMBERS FEATURED

Two Solos, One Duet and Male Quarter Number Are Sung—Letter
From Former Charleroi Pastor
Who is at Philadelphia is Read.

Not only the sermon of Evangelist Minges on "Short Weight"—this being an able presentation of facts from the point of view of a former business man—but music was a feature at the Tuesday night's service at the Fifth street tabernacle.

An enthusiastic song service was conducted by Song Leader—well. Two solos were rendered, one "Mother," by Mrs. A. G. Lewis, and
The writing on the Wall" by H. J.
Bray, a member of the evangelistic company. Mrs. Roland Todd and Miss Georgene Parsons sang a duet, "Wonderful Love" during the song service with the choir singing the choros. The
"Where Will You Spend Eternity."

During the first part of the service
Rev. E. N. Duty read a letter from Rev. J. T. Hacker, formerly of Charleroi, but now located in Philadelphia, in which Rev. Hacker said he was glad Charleroi had an evangelist who wasn't afraid to hit the "booze business" with all his might.
He claimed in his letter it was the "greatest detriment to the working man." The evangelist did his own scripture reading and he and Rev.
Duty together made the announcements. The prayer was offered by Rev. W. G. Carl, pastor of the Bay-tist church.

Announcement has been made of a gift that came unexpected to the evangelist on Tuesday night, which was Macabees night. An envelope was sent him containing $10 that was the presentation of the Charleroi and Monessen hives of the Ladies of the Maccabees.

Prayer meetings will be held tomorrow morning as follows: At the home of Mrs. Frank Donaldson, 117
McKean avenue; Mrs. Charles Davis, 1203 McKean avenue; Mrs. George
Kline, 407 Crest avenue; Mrs. Mary Moffitt, 809 Lookout avenue; Mrs.
Frank Renouf, North Charleroi.

"Short Weight"
The evangelist spoke on the subject of "Short Weight," taking his text from the story of Nebuchadnezzar and his son Belshazzar found in the 5th chapter of Daniel. His text was "Thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting." He described the city of Babylon telling how strongly it was fortified against the enemy and how confident they were that no enemy could take their city. He showed how the enemy got into the city by means of the river bed which flowed under the wall. He said: God took away the talent from

A QUESTIONABLE MEASURE

The bill introduced at Harrisburg giving courts of common pleas authority to exercise the duties and powers of receivers for individual under certain conditions will require careful consideration before it is permitted to become a law of the state, states the Pittsburgh Gazette Times. It is frankly stated that the special object of the bill is to protect the creditors of the individual, but once it becomes law, of course, its application will be general. Its ultimate effect should be considered, not as it may apply to innumerable cases that are sure to arise.

In the first place it will mean an enormous additional burden upon the courts, with the responsibility for choosing doctors for "sick business." In the second place experience proves that receiverships are long-drawn-out and expensive luxuries as a rule. Where they are successful they almost invariably involve reorganization, assessments and sacrifice on the part of creditors; where they are unsuccessful the salvage is usually absorbed by lawyers and receivers. This is not the fault of the courts, but of custom and the law's delays. In the third place, the effect of the law may seriously impair the ability of business to negotiate new capital in the future. While there is a natural aversion to Shylocks, who insist that the terms upon which credit has been advanced were "denominated in the bond," it nevertheless remains true of the general run of human nature that it insists upon observance of legal contracts, even if such observance occasionally involves personal sacrifice in the case of individuals.

The first section of the proposed law is broad enough to bring within the courts virtually every one of the 1,234 failures recorded in the state of Pennsylvania last year. Probably every embarrassed individual could plead in excuse for inability to pay his debts at maturity, that it was "owing to the unusual, stringent or depressed financial conditions of the time," or other unusual conditions of any kind, and under the proposed law he would be entitled to postpone meeting his contracts, provided the court, after due investigation, was "satisfied that the fair value of the assets, real and personal of said debtor, largely exceeds the said debts, and liabilities." This seems to be throwing an undue responsibility on the courts. Moreover, the condition that rendered it impossible for the debtor to meet his obligations at maturity would also have an important bearing upon the market value of assets, and the real determining factor would be the question of time during which conditions might change for the better. But this factor of time had been already taken into consideration when the defaulted contract was entered into. The proposed procedure for relief would apply also to mortgages, delaying foreclosing and working hardship to innocent investors.

The object of the proposed legislation is praiseworthy; it aims at averting needless sacrifice. But its effect would be so revolutionary of present business practice that it may be questioned whether the object would be attained.

PROTECTING FOOD

There is much wisdom in the recommendation made by a commission to the legislature that more attention be given to the condition of meats and other foods before they are placed in cold storage and after they are taken out, says an exchange. The commission, which was appointed by the legislature, at the 1913 session, says the condition of the food at that time, and the manner of handling it after taken out, is of far greater importance than the length of time that it remains in storage.

The commission did not find the storage and quality of gross negligence in failure to preserve the foods in a condition fit for human consumption, as a portion of the public feared was the case when the investigation was authorized. According to its own statement no conspiracy was found. On the contrary, the report says that the warehouse men are strictly custodians of property placed in their possession, and in no instance do they profit by abnormal prices on eggs or any other food commodity given to them for preservation. It is also brought out in the report that the cold storage facilities of the big concerns are open to any householder, and this is considered proof that connivance to boost prices is impossible.

Having no power to draft legislation, the commission confined its work to recommendations. Chief among these is the request for thorough inspection of all food commodities at the warehouses before it goes into cold storage. Importance of such inspection is at once apparent. It would protect the consumer against much of the inferior food stuffs that now find their way into the markets. The suggestion is one of which members of the legislature should give large consideration of the legislation.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Reference to the high cost of living the other night brought a smile to the face of one of a group of men. He said he was reminded of an exciting incident in the life of Brown.

Brown was happily rambling through the land of dreams one night when he suddenly awakened to find the long barrel of a huge pistol unpleasantly close to his face. "Utter one word," cried a strong voice back of the formidable gun, "and you are a dead man."

"I'm not saying a word," was the meekish rejoinder of the submissive Brown.

"What I want," continued the burglar without lowering the pistol, "is every single valuable that you have in the house and I want them quickly."

"All right, old man," promptly replied Brown, digging up a slip of paper and handing it to the burglar. "Here is the combination to the refrigerator."

A physician was testifying in the superior court recently in regard to one of his patients, who was suing for damages for alleged personal injuries. Counsel for the defendant desired to ascertain whether the patient was conscious or unconscious when the doctor examined him immediately after the accident.

"Was he conscious or unconscious when you went there to see him?" counsel asked the physician.

"The first time he carried on so," replied the physician. "I don't know whether he was or not. The second time I think he was."

ALL OUT OF SORTS

Has Any Charleroi Person Never Felt That Way?

Feel all out of sorts?
Tired, Blue, Irritable, Nervous?
Back feel lame and achy?
Perhaps it's the story of disordered kidneys—

Bad blood circulating about;
Uric acid poisoning the body.
There's a way to feel right again.
Stimulate the sluggish kidneys;
Do it with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Doan's are recommended by many Charleroi people.

Here's one case.

Mrs. M. E. Richards, 501 Seventh St., Charleroi, says: "For years I had attacks of kidney diseases. Just a short time ago, I was suffering from severe pains in my back that often shot up and down my spine and into my head. I also had chills and spots floated before my eyes. I was very nervous and the least work tired me out. I used one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they drove the attacks away."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Richards had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

It Is Hard To Hide A Hammer.

Luke McLuke Says:

A man may be as black as he is painted, but a woman is never as pink as she is painted.

When we see a painting that seems to have neither purpose nor reason, we call it art and let it go at that.

It is hard to realize that a big, bull-necked, pop-eyed, fat-nosed guy with sandy whiskers once took a prize at a baby show.

A man is never damaged as much as the amount he sues for, and he is never damaged as little as the amount the jury awards him.

If most of us were as big as we imagine we are, the streets would have to be widened.

The trouble with a woman is that she always wants to do something else. It is different with a man. But a woman is more afraid of getting fat than she is of getting consumption.

No, Harold, women do not like to kiss each other any more than men like to kiss when they meet. But the women like to make the men imagine that they are missing something.

There isn't as much to bark about at night as a dog thinks there is. And there isn't as much going on downtown at night as a woman thinks there is.

Before he gets her he thinks she is a clinging vine. But later on he likens her to poison ivy.

The fellows who are not getting any of it are the ones who know that the world is full of graft.

The old-fashioned man who used to wear a McIntosh now has a son who wears a raincoat.

When you find it in the butter, a blond hair looks just as bad as a gray one.

It is easy to tell a girl that you love her when you don't. But it is hard to tell her that you love her when you do.

Some men regard their conscience and their appendix as excess baggage.

Most of the men who are seeking positions are dodging jobs.

There isn't enough horsepower in the world to force a woman to do what she will do willingly after a little jolly-ing.

The Time to Break It.

There is an anecdote in some volume of French theatrical memoirs narrating an experience of Mlle. Clairon, the great tragic actress, with a pupil of hers, a girl of strong natural gifts for the dramatic art, but far too frequent and too exuberant in her gesticulation. So when the pupil was once to appear before the public in a recitation Mlle. Clairon bound the girl's arms to her side by a stiff thread and sent her thus upon the stage.

With the first strong feeling she had to express the pupil tried to raise her arms only to be restrained by the thread. A dozen times in the course of her recitation she was prevented from making the gestures she desired until at the very end she could stand it no longer, and in the climax of her emotion she broke her bonds and swung her hands to her head.

When she came off the stage she went humbly to where Mlle. Clairon was standing in the wings and apologized for having snapped the thread.

"But you did quite right," said the teacher. "That was the time to make the gesture, not before."

When Earthquakes Come.

That animals are sensitive to the approach of earthquakes is a fact frequently observed, and the more recent seismic troubles in various countries give numerous examples of this singular faculty which many animals possess. For instance, in Japan horses set up an unusual agitation whenever a seismic shock is near at hand. In Central America dogs and cats flee from houses, and the inhabitants have been so accustomed to this that they follow the example of the animals and leave their dwellings so as to escape danger.

In Italy it has been observed that birds left their nests and flew up to a great height in the air, but this without noise before the earthquake took place. However at the time when the earthquake shocks were produced the birds uttered cries which lasted for all the duration of the earthquake. It is asserted that in Sicily cocks crow and dogs howl just before an earthquake.—Chicago News.

Power of the Supreme Court.

"The supreme court of the United States," writes Christian Banner in Case and Comment, "exercises a power which we think is unique in the world, to pass upon the constitutionality of the statutes enacted by congress. It may thus suspend the execution of the resolutions hastily adopted by both houses."

"The French courts have the right to interpret the law. They cannot refuse to do so under pretext that the law is not clear or that it is silent or insufficient. By so doing the judge comes guilty of a misdemeanor called 'denial of justice,' and he is punished by a fine and deprived of all civil rights for a period varying from five to twenty years. But our court in France, not even the court of cassation, has the power to decide whether a law passed by congress is unconstitutional or not."

Two Kettles of Water.

Sir Robert Hart, speaking of marriage and death customs in the far east, told a story of a great Chinese scholar and high official who said that the foreign way of letting the young people fall in love and choose and the Chinese way of first marrying and then making acquaintance reminded him of two kettles of water. The first—the foreign—was taken at the boiling point from the fire by marriage and then grew cooler and cooler, whereas the second—the Chinese—was a kettle of cold water put on the fire by wedlock and ever afterward growing warmer and warmer. "So that," said his friend, "after fifty or sixty years we are madly in love with each other."—Exchange.

Why He Was Careful.

A man who believed in pedestrianism coaxed a friend to accompany him on a little jaunt. Every time they crossed the road his friend looked first one way and then the other and refused to budge if there chanced to be a motorcar in sight.

"It's all well enough to be careful," said the pedestrian, "but you seem to have let automobiles get on your nerves."

"I've good reason to be careful," answered his friend. "The insurance policy I carry is void if I get run over by one."—Judge.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE GOES TO VOTERS

By Vote of 37 to 11, Senate Places the Issue Squarely Before the People

WILL BE DECIDED NOV. 2

State President of the Suffragists Confident of Victory

Harrisburg, Pa., March 17.—The question as to whether the women of Pennsylvania shall have the right to vote is no longer a legislative issue. By endorsing the resolution calling for an amendment to the State Constitution, the Senate has placed the matter squarely before the men of Pennsylvania. Their vote on Election day this year will decide whether or not the two year campaign of the Keystone suffragists has been in vain. At suffrage headquarters here today Mrs. Frank M. Roessing expressed the opinion that the legislative victory of the women would be repeated at the polls. This opinion she said, was based upon the fact that the vote in the Senate—37 ayes and only 11 noes—tends to indicate that not only public sentiment but political sentiment, as well, has changed in favor of the women. Two years ago, the suffrage resolution received a majority of only one vote in the Senate, and then only after a nerve-racking fight in which the lieutenant governor, for the first time in years, was compelled to vote in order to break a deadlock.

Further indications that political sentiment is swinging in favor of equal suffrage was evinced in the Legislature this year when party leaders Vane and Crow, personally led the fight for the women and publicly urged their fellow Senators to redeem their party pledges and vote for the amendment. Senator Martin, of Cumberland, and Senator Hiltz, of McKean, also spoke in favor of it. Only Erdman, of Dauphin County, and Thompson, of Beaver, opposed its passage. The final vote stood as follows:

Ayes—Clark, Croft, Crow, Dalt, Endsley, Farley, Graff, Gysler, Hiltz, Hindman, Hoke, Homsher, Jenkins, Kurtz, Lynch, Charles J. Magee, Martin, McConnell, McKee, Miller, Moore, Patton, Phelps, Salus, Schantz, Semmens, Sencerich, Raymond E. Smith, William W. Smith, Charles A. Snyder, Pirmouth W. Sander, Sprout, Stewart, Tompkins, Vane, Warner and Washers. Noes—Erdman, Buckman, Burke, Catlin, DeWitt, Geringer, Hackert, Klue, McNichol, Sones and Thompson.

Two were absent—Herbst and Mills.

COMING THROUGH THE RYE

(Suffrage Version)
If a lassie wants the ballot
To join in the town,
And a lassie gets the ballot
Need a lassie frown?
Many a lassie has the ballot
Not so bright as I,
And many a lassie votes his ballot
Overcome with rye.

If a lassie works for wages,
Toiling all the day,
And her work the lassie's equals,
Give her equal pay.
If a body pays the taxes,
Surely you'll agree
That a body earns the franchise, Whether he or she.

PARTY LEADERS BOOST SUFFRAGE

Senators Vane and Crow Speak in Favor of the Amendment. Erdman Opposed

Harrisburg, March 17.—Party leaders Vane and Crow, and Senators Martin and Hiltz are still busy receiving the thanks of the suffragists for their speeches in favor of the suffrage amendment when it came to a vote in the Senate last Monday night. Mr. Vane's speech was brief and to the point.

"I want to see this suffrage amendment go before the people," he said. "It won't cost anything. What's more, the women are entitled to it after the grand fight they've put up for their bill."

Senator Crow delivered a longer speech.

"Two years ago," he said, "I fought the adoption of this resolution with all the forces at my command. The resolution, nevertheless, received a constitutional majority. Later it became a question as to whether or not it should be a pledge of the party in the Republican Platform of last year. After due deliberation and consideration the party was committed to the adoption of this resolution of submitting the question of woman suffrage to a referendum vote of the State. Upon that platform the State candidates were elected and practically all of the Legislature candidates."

"Speaking for the Republican State committee and the Republican State organization, I feel it my duty to say that we feel that there is as much obligation resting on the party to pass this resolution as to carry any other in the platform, and we can only express the wish that the Republican members of the Senate will recognize that obligation by voting for this resolution."

Senator Hiltz said:
"Equal Suffrage has been an issue in a great many states beside Pennsylvania, and Congress has voted upon this question and at that time one of the strongest arguments against it and possibly the argument which defeated the measure, was the statement that it was a State issue. We cannot place that argument against this bill, for the simple reason that it is a State issue. Two years ago this resolution was passed through the Senate and a few months after it was included in the Washington Party platform, the Democratic Platform and the Progressive Platform. I believe any constitutional amendment that is taken up by the different parties this way should not be defeated by any legislative body but should be passed on for the consideration of the voters."

Senator Martin, of McKean County, said:
"I feel that we have no right to hold this bill from the people. Let them decide the question. It is their right to do it and my vote will be 'aye'."

The action of the Senate in passing the bill makes Pennsylvania the fourth State in the East that will vote on a suffrage amendment at the polls this year. The three other Campaign States are New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts.

TREE A GIGANTIC PUMP.

One Elm Found to Raise 200 Barrels of Water a Day.

Professor George Lewis of a Washington university, which possesses a large number of trees, found that the air in the trunk of a water elm tree, which was cut down near a river, was filled with water vapor. The quantity of water vapor was found to be about 200 barrels a day. It was found that the water vapor was not only in the trunk of the tree, but also in the leaves. ANCIENT "WIRELESS."

An Old Roman Carrier Pigeon Station Still Stands in France.

A few miles north of Marseilles and within easy walk of the ruins of Aix-en-Provence is a typical Provençal village that tourists usually miss. It was founded by the Romans during their occupation of the south of France and is built in accordance with the customs of that time. The houses appear to be perched on top of each other, but on closer inspection are found to be built on ledges on a hill-side.

This hill is the most interesting feature of the place. What appears as a solitary crag is in reality a castle, the rooms, fortifications, etc., being cut out of the solid rock and forming a fortress practically impregnable in those days. At the side of the castle is a round tower, about forty feet in height and seven feet in diameter.

The interior of this tower acted as the "wireless station" in Roman times. The interior consisted of a series of pigeon lofts, from which the birds, bearing messages, were sent direct to Rome.

The whole of the interior was constructed of a very hard cement, which, with the wear of ages, is now slowly decaying, and only one perfect "loft" now remains. There was accommodation for about 250 pairs of birds together with an abundant water and grain supply, the attendants being quartered in the castle.—Wide World Magazine.

The Long Bamboo.

An Englishman was once rallying a native of India upon his faculty in lying. The native at once replied: "Why, sahib, we are all more or less liars in my country, and if one tells a story another immediately caps it. There were two young men of my country who had a boasting match, and one said, 'My father is so rich and has so many horses that his stable is of such extent as to take a horse eleven months to go from one end stall to the other.' 'Shabash, brother,' replied the second boaster, 'that is very good. My father has a bamboo so long that he can sweep the clouds away with it when they obscure the sun in harvest time.' 'Hi, hi,' exclaimed the first, 'That is very wonderful, but pray, brother, where does your father keep such a long bamboo?' 'Why, you stupid,' was the answer, 'in your father's stable, to be sure!'

She stood at the mother's knee one day gently patting the little head. "Be careful, Dorothy," said the mother. "You know poor little brother is ill. He is cutting his teeth." Dorothy patted the bald head reflectively. "Mamma," she said, "will it make him ill when he cuts his hair?"—Exchange.

SCARCITY OF MONEY

Legislature Will Have Difficult Time Satisfying Everybody.

Harrisburg, Feb. 9.—According to the report of the state board of charities this legislative session faced to appropriate new money for additions and improvements to private and semi-private hospitals. The appropriations to these institutions must be used for maintenance and nothing else.

Applications for funds that came before the state board of charities to total approximately $22,000,000. Recommendations were made for some thing like $12,000,000. The "limit" in general, there being hardly a hospital in the entire state that is recommended for the amount it applied for.

Auditor General Foxall is authority for the statement that the legislature has about $5,500,000 available for appropriations for the next two years. This is apparently $11,000,000 less than the actual appropriations of the 1912 assembly.

STRAIGHT PROHIBITION

Glenn, of Venango, Offers Amendment to Wipe Out Liquor Traffic.

Harrisburg, Feb. 9.—Not only must the present legislature consider a county unit local option bill, but it will also have to take up for consideration a prohibition amendment to the state constitution. The amendment, offered by Glenn, of Venango, is as follows:

"The manufacture, sale, barter or exchange of intoxicating liquors or beverages, whether spirituous, vinous, malt or brewed, is hereby forever prohibited to the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, excepting the manufacture and use of alcohol for medical, scientific or mechanical purposes. The general assembly shall enact suitable laws for the enforcement of this article and for regulating the manufacture and use of alcohol for medical, scientific or mechanical purposes."

Service, Quality, Price

Three small words that express more than written pages, when it comes to buying ladies' suits.

Your first thought is naturally, will they give service--then quality, is the material, workmanship and style correct.

The handsome new Suits for spring wear are less inclined to the extreme in cut and style. They are designed to give longer service--in other words, being less affected in style changes, they can be worn for a longer time and still conform to style.

We've a splendid selection of fabrics in the popular colors--tan, sand and putty being much sought and the always wanted blacks and blues as usual in demand.

Jackets are short with plain pleated backs--some with semi-belted effects. Skirts are cut fuller and mostly plain.

And lastly: Is price low enough quality considered. Quality and price speak for themselves here.

Handsome serviceable suits at $14.75 to $30.

the man because he didn't use it. If you don't use your own talent, God will take away even that which you have. His kingdom was divided and given to the Medes and Persians because he was "weighed in the balances and found wanting." You are being weighed in the balances daily. Are you being "found wanting"? God never sent any flood, destruction, or any kind of punishment without first giving warning. Belshazzar was warned but he refused to believe or obey the warning, just like people today who are without Christ and we are trying to warn them but they will not heed the warning.

AERIAL TRAIL BREAKING.

Amazing Speed and Endurance of the Wild Swan in Flight.

It is impossible for one who has seen only the common mute swans floating about in the artificial lakes of city parks to imagine the grandeur of a flock of the great whistlers in their wild state. In "Wild Life and the Camera" Mr. A. R. Dugmore says the sight is one of the most impressive in nature. As the huge birds rise into the air it seems as if an aerial regatta were being sailed overhead, the swans, each with a wing spread of six or seven feet, moving like yachts under full sail.

Once the swans are fairly under way their speed is amazing, nearly a hundred miles an hour, and that, too, with no apparent effort, for the slow wing motion is very deceiving. Their endurance is as surprising as their speed, for they are said to travel a thousand miles without alighting.

The birds are usually led by an old and experienced swimmer and it is said that as one becomes tired of leading, or it might be called aerial trail breaking, his place is taken by another whose strength is equal to the task, and so they continue until they reach their destination, the southern feeding grounds of the winter or the northern breeding places of the summer. Occasionally they stop to rest in the region of the great lakes. Not many years ago, while on their way north, a large number stopped above Niagara falls, and more than a hundred were by some extraordinary mischance carried over the falls and killed in the surging waters.

Whether the swans prepare in any special way for their southward journey is not known, but before starting north they indulge in the curious habit known as "ballast-ing"--that is to say, they eat great quantities of sand, for what purpose no one knows.

In the faraway Arctic ocean is their breeding place, and it is believed that they mate for life. As with so many of the water birds, the swans protect their eggs with a covering of down scratched from their own breasts, so that when the birds leave the nest the two to six large, yellowish eggs are hidden from the eyes of possible thieves and protected against sudden changes of temperature.

It is many years before the swans are clothed in the feathers of immaculate whiteness that make them such conspicuous objects of beauty. Not, indeed, until the fifth year does all trace of gray disappear. Their first feathers are entirely gray. Gradually they lighten, becoming mottled with white, the neck and head remaining gray until after the body is completely white.

What Shell Fire Is Like.

I have read many attempts to describe shell fire in a battle, but not one to equal the easy description of this young officer, who does not pretend to be a stylist. Listen:

"You hear a boom miles away, hardly audible in the distance. Then a faint sigh, gradually rising to a scream as the shell whizzes toward you. Then a flash, an immense crash and the air is filled with thousands of bullets and jagged lumps of iron, each making a different sort of shrieking noise. Then phit-phit-phit everywhere as they hit the ground.

"This is shrapnel."--London Sketch.

A Regular Gadder

A lady bought some furniture at an auction sale in Glasgow the other day. On paying the porter she remarked: "Had I known how dirty that furniture was I would not have bought it." "Well, madam," replied the porter, "it was the dirtiest house I ever saw; but there, what could I expect--the mistresses live only at home every Tuesday. Ah, ken it for a fact, 'cause I read it on a card I put in that drawer there."--Glasgow News.

The Sick Man of the East.

The phrase "the sick man of the east" originated in a speech of Czar Nicholas to the British chargé d'affaires at St. Petersburg at the time of the Crimean war. He said: "We have on our hands a sick man, a very sick man. It would be a great misfortune if one of these days he should slip away from us before the necessary arrangements have been made."--Argonaut.

Perfect Happiness.

Grubbs--What is your idea of perfect happiness? Smibbs--Well, if my wife would stop telling me what she thinks of me, and I had the privilege of telling my respected employer what I think of him it would seem about right.--Richmond Times-Dispatch.

The Man and the Machine.

"How many votes did you get?" "Not nearly as many as the other fellow," said the man who is always philosophical. "You see, I had to depend entirely on my own efforts for my votes. His were machine made."--Washington Star.

Consistent.

Brown--Why is your daughter going to talk against the permanence of a republic in that college debate? Smith--Because she thought the advocacy of a republic would not go well with her new empire gown.--Brooklyn Citizen.

Perfectly Proper.

"I am afraid this company is doing business on an inflated capital." "Yes, but then it deals in automobile tires."--Baltimore American.

Take care that no one hates you justly.--Syrus.

A Pretty Compliment.

The "three beautiful Miss Gummings" were in their day--which was after the middle of the eighteenth century--such famous beauties that the London crowd often followed their carriages on the street and fairly mobbed any shop they were known to have entered in the effort to get a sight of them. The handsomest of the trio, worn out by the activities of the London season, started for a time in the country near a market town. It was known in the neighborhood that she wished to pass unnoticed and was not well, and her wish was respected. But on the day of her departure from the town there was an unusual number of people at hand to see the coach start. As the lovely lady stepped from the inn door to the step of the coach the man of a climbing rose caught for a moment in her hair. Instantly a voice called from the crowd:

"No names, my lady, and no staring, but three cheers for the queen of beauty that the roses crown of themselves!"

"They were given with a will and won the response of a radiant face at the coach window and a gracious hand waving farewell."

Eggs Hatched in Rice.

John Chinaman had a method of hatching eggs artificially many generations before there were any white-men in America to begin to think about providing a mechanical substitute for the mother hen. And John Chinaman is still using his ancient method and refuses to purchase the newfangled incubator. The Chinese poultryman takes a quantity of unhusked rice which he has roasted. This is heated until it is lukewarm. A three inch layer of warm rice is spread into a tub, and a layer of eggs is placed thereon. Another layer of rice is added and another layer of eggs and finally a last layer of rice over the fifth layer of eggs. About 500 eggs are placed in a tub. Once each day the eggs are removed, the rice heated and the whole repacked. The tub is kept well covered to keep in the heat. In the course of three or four weeks the chicks put in their appearance.--American Boy.

How Napoleon Gressed.

Napoleon was always simple in his dress, and generally wore the uniform of his own guard. He was clearly rather from habit than from liking for cleanliness. He bathed often--sometimes in the middle of the night--because he thought the practice good for his health. But, apart from this, the precipitation with which he did everything did not admit of his clothes being put on carefully, and on gala days and full dress occasions his servants were obliged to consult together as to when they might snatch a moment to dress him.

He could not endure the wearing of ornaments. The slightest constraint was insupportable to him. He would tear off or break anything that gave him the least annoyance.--Memoirs of Mme. de Remusat.

Pepys and the Otacousticon.

As far back as 1608 experiments were being made with what savants called an "otacousticon," which brought distant sounds to the ear and was a faroff promise of the "long distance" and "wireless" messages of today. Samuel Pepys was abroad in those days, and, of course, he saw the new toy, tried it and mentions it in his diary. He went with Lord Brouncker to "the Royal society," and "here, to my great content, I did try the use of the otacousticon, which was only a great glass bottle broke at the bottom, putting the neck to my ears, and there I did plainly hear the dancing of the oars of the boats in the Thames to Arunde's gallery window, which without it I could not in the least do."

Court Room Retort.

Two young attorneys were wrangling for a long time before Judge Knox of Virginia over a point of law. His honor rendered his decision, and the sprig who had lost impudently remarked, "Your honor, there is a growing opinion that all the fools are not dead yet." "Certainly," answered the court, with unruffled good humor, "I quite agree with you, Mr. B., and congratulate you upon your healthy appearance."

Badly Matched.

Mrs. Yeast--This paper says the matching of colors has been brought down to an exact science by the invention of a machine for the purpose. Mr. Yeast--You ought to get the people who run the store where you buy your hair to get one of those machines, dear.--Yonkers Statesman.

Very Trying.

"Dear sir," wrote the anxious mother, "I am afraid Johnny is not trying enough." "Dear madam," replied the harassed teacher, "I assure you that Johnny is quite trying enough. He is the most trying boy in the class."

Power of Beauty.

Beauty gets the best of it. Poets, humane organizations, sentimentalists, make a great to-do about the bird that dies to adorn a woman's hat. But who has any sympathy for the hen whose neck is wrung to make a purple?--Don Marquis

A Philippines Custom.

When a young woman of the Philippines marries her husband's name is added to her maiden name. If she becomes a widow the husband's name is discarded.

The man who was born with a talent which he is meant to use finds his greatest happiness in using it.--Goethe.
